

These letter compositions were created using the TypeDrawing app for iPod. They enable me to map out the accumulated actions of staring at letters. One letter upon another till an image of asemic value is achieved. The choices made toward the completion of a piece are based on balance, color, surprise and longevity of gaze